NEW QUESTION: 1

You have enabled budgetary control and have a control budget set to Advisory control level. For September 2016, your budget for a given account combination is $5,000 USD. In the same month, there is an approved requisition for that account of $900 and an approved purchase order for that account of $2,500 USD. There is also a General Ledger adjustment journal entry for that account of $1,600 USD. An approved purchase order line of $400 USD is then cancelled. And an invoice is matched to the purchase order for $2,100 USD. Which two statements are true? (Choose two.)

- A. As there are cancellations for $400 USD, the system will partially reserve the funds in September 2016 and fully reserve it in October 2016
- B. Funds reservation only happens for non-matched invoices, so the system will not reserve funds
- C. The system always consumes budget of future periods if the limit for the current period is expired, so October 2016 budget will be considered for reservation
- D. No change
- E. Purchase order encumbrance will be released for $2,100 USD

Answer: A,E

NEW QUESTION: 2

Ein Frame, der in einen Switch eintritt, besteht die Frame-Check-Sequenz nicht. Welche zwei Schnittstellenzähler werden inkrementiert? (Wähle zwei)

- A. Riesen
- B. Rahmen
- C. Runts
- D. Eingabefehler
- E. CRC

Answer: D,E

Explanation:

Explanation

Whenever the physical transmission has problems, the receiving device might receive a frame whose bits have changed values. These frames do not pass the error detection logic as implemented in the FCS field in the Ethernet trailer. The receiving device discards the frame and counts it as some kind of input error.

Cisco switches list this error as a CRC error. Cyclic redundancy check (CRC) is a term related to how the FCS math detects an error.

The "input errors" includes runts, giants, no buffer, CRC, frame, overrun, and ignored counts.

The output below show the interface counters with the "show interface s0/0/0" command:

NEW QUESTION: 3

Your companys network has client computers that run Windows 7. A software vendor releases version 2 of an application that your company uses.

Your company currently uses version 1.

Version 1 and version 2 are not compatible.

You plan to deploy version 2 of the application.

You have the following requirements:

Users must be able to run both versions of the application on their computers.

Version 2 must be available when a client computer is not connected to the network.

You need to plan a software deployment process that meets the requirements.

What should you do?

- A. Deploy version 2 of the application by using a Microsoft System Center Configuration Manager package.
- B. Deploy version 2 of the application by using Microsoft Application Virtualization (App-V).
- C. Deploy version 2 of the application as a Remote Desktop Services RemoteApp.
- D. Deploy version 2 of the application by using a Group Policy Software Installation policy.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation:

Microsoft Application Virtualization (MS App-V) platform allows applications to be deployed in real-time to any client from a virtual application server. It removes the need for local installation of the applications.

Instead, only the App-v client needs to be installed on the client machines. All application data is permanently stored on the virtual application server. Whichever software is needed is either streamed or locally cached from the application server on demand and run locally. The App-V stack sandboxes the execution environment so that the application does not make changes to the client itself (OS File System and/or Registry). App-V applications are also sandboxed from each other, so that different versions of the same application can be run under App-V concurrently.
